

Grammar

Question Tags

Objectives

Isn't it? Aren't you? Is she? Will you?
Aren't they? Weren't they? Could you? Don't you? Doesn't it? Didn't they? Hadn't they? Didn't she?

Complete the following conversation with a negative question tag.

Aaron: Your class teacher is Ms. Chan, _____?

Dan: Yes, she is. She also taught my brothers' class.

Aaron: Oh! So, they quite enjoyed her lesson, _____?

Dan: Yes, they did! They also told me that next week they will be holding a concert. You will be there too right, _____?

Aaron: Of course, I will be there. I can't wait to see the concert. Other than that, I heard that Justin will also perform. I wondered what he will perform. Justin can play violin, _____?

Dan: Yes, he plays it very well, especially classical music. You also like classical music, _____?

Aaron: Yes, I love it! I remember explaining the long Mozart piece to you, _____?

Dan: Yes, you did. It was so hilarious and funny because I couldn't understand. Anyways, it was really fun to chat with you. We should hang out more often. I know our football team has booked us a table at Foster Dinner next week, _____?

Aaron: Yes, they have. I guess I will see you then!